

WRITING GUIDE FOR THE STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

First your statement of purpose needs to be typed in a word document (1 page maximum, font Times 12).

It should include:

- a brief presentation of the curriculum in which you are currently enrolled
- Connect this curriculum with classes you would like to take in a North American University (either because they are not offered at your home university or because they have equivalents in your own curriculum)
- a conclusion where you speak of what this stay abroad will bring to you personally.

In the case you want to mention specific North American universities you are interested in studying at, you need to do a different statement of purpose for each one you selected. Otherwise, in the case of a general statement of purpose there should be no name of a higher education institution.
