

University of Mary Washington : Lecteur/Lectrice Description

1) Class Enrollment : Yes, lecteurs/lectrices can be enrolled in courses at UMW across the curriculum so any class that is open he/she can enroll in when they get here. Normally in the past, they have enrolled in no more than two courses per semester given the other duties that they are in charge of while they are here.

2) Salary : French TA who are not teaching a language class will be receiving a stipend of $600 per semester plus room and board plus insurance. If they are teaching, salaries depend on prior college teaching experience.

3) Lecteur/Lectrice Duties : French TA will teach an introductory language class and also offer conversation hours once a week to French students. They also may offer tutoring and help support the overall mission of the French Department. They are involved in about 10 hours of work a week.

4) Room and Board : Single room and board (15 meals per week) are provided to the student along with additional $200 per semester to be used for food purchases. Additionally, they receive $150 per semester to be used in the bookstore. There is no fee per month per se, as room and board are provided to the student.